ARMED FORCES COVENANT FUND TRUST

REPORT ON THE FOURTH YEAR OF FUNDING

A.1 BACKGROUND

1.1 The Covenant Reference Group (CRG) directed on 29 January 2018 that the Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust should:

- a) fund projects in FY2018/19 that support the integration and/or delivery of services to the Armed Forces Community;
- b) fund projects in FY2018/2019 that improve non crisis mental health care to veterans with complex needs;
- c) fund continuation projects in FY2018/2019 that support ex-service personnel in the criminal justice system; and
- d) fund projects in FY2018/2019 that promote community integration in areas of need by supporting local communities to consider the Armed Forces Covenant and its relevance today in the context of the WW1 commemorations.

1.2. The Trustees of the Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust have now awarded the following grants under these priorities:

1.2.1 One hundred and fifty grants have been awarded under the Armed Forces Covenant: Local Grants programme;

1.2.2 Eight portfolio grants have been awarded under the Tackling Serious Stress; Veterans, Families and Carers programme;

1.2.3 Seven large continuation grants were awarded under the ex-service personnel in the criminal justice system Continuation and Sustainability programme; and

1.2.4 Under the Armistice and Armed Forces Covenant programme, 2,773 awards were made across the United Kingdom, including 731 to uniformed youth organisations working with the Youth United Foundation, 229 in Scotland, 205 in Wales, 83 in Northern Ireland and 2249 in England.

1.2.5 Details of all the grants awarded under the first three Priorities are shown in the table annexed to this report and are publicly available on the Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust website. There is a separate and full report on the Armistice and the Armed Forces Covenant also available on the website.

A.2 NUMERICAL OVERVIEW

2. Armed Forces Covenant: Local Grants

2.1 The Armed Forces Covenant: Local Grants programme was again delivered as a 'rolling programme' throughout 2018/19, continually open for applications rather than having funding rounds and deadlines. The Trustees considered applications on four occasions during the year, and in total considered 404 applications requesting in total £6,814,930. Of these, the Trustees decided to award 150 grants totalling £2,446,199.

2.2 Overall numbers of applications were considerably increased from the previous years (253 applications received 2016/1, 297 received 2017/18) and ineligible applications continued to be very low, reflecting the value of continuous improvement to guidance material and its accessibility via the Trust's website. Awards were made only to those fully meeting the aims of the funding programme.

2.3 Grants were awarded across all the Regional or Devolved Administrations areas (RDAs).

3. Tackling Serious Stress in Veterans, Families and Carers

3.1 The intention of this programme was to fund the design of a small number of new approaches aimed at supporting veterans who are very unwell. Successful portfolios had to demonstrate that they could support veterans who have chronic and or severe mental health needs, that are having a significant impact on their day to day lives, and where there is no current alternative for support, or those alternatives have been exhausted. Strong and regular collaboration is in place with the NHS to consider programme outcomes and learning. Successful grants are portfolio by design; requiring the lead organisation to collaborate with a diverse group of statutory, health and third sector organisations.

3.2 At the meeting held on 15 February 2019, the Trustees awarded funding to eight portfolios totalling £4,263,084 delivering projects across all four countries

3.3 The programme design had commenced with a well-supported consultation and launch in the form of an open forum for potential applicants. Several support tools for applicants were put in place and resulted in 33 comprehensive applications for assessment. On 17 January the Contact Group convened so as to offer an external clinical viewpoint to assist the assessment process, particularly in the matters of: clinical efficacy, genuine innovation and additionality to current NHS/sector provision.

3.4 Following an open procurement process; a contract has been developed with the University of Chester to take the role of external evaluator and using a common set of measurement metrics and through the production of a final report will be able to include any evidence of clinical success and cost effectiveness for the solutions being piloted. All University of Chester processes have been ratified by the ethics committee. Following the Trustees' decisions and as part of the contracting phase; the University of Chester have undertaken site visits to each organisation to set up data collection process and train staff in their ethical usage. The programme has a start date of 01/04/19 with a 24 month delivery and evaluation period.

3.5 The intention is to fund a mid-term learning and development seminar in March 2020 which will be jointly curated by the University of Chester and the Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust to consider and learn from the first year of the programme with outcomes informing the onward delivery of the second year.

3.6 The Trustees requested that any underspend on this year's £10M would be used to fund narrative research to understand and ascertain the impact that death, as a result of service, has on the surviving family. Specifically, it will focus on how casualty notification is undertaken, and the impact the current process used has on the long-term wellbeing of the family which will inform current grant management but also provide Trustees with a valuable context for decision making under the Removing Family Barriers programme.

3.7 The total committed under this Priority was £4,639,567

4. Continuation and Sustainability Grants under the ex-service personnel in the criminal justice system programme

4.1 Fourteen grants totalling £4.6M were awarded in 2015 as two and three year grants to support projects with ex service personnel with the aim of reducing reoffending.

4.2 Projects had success in reaching former service personnel who are currently offending or who are at risk of offending but reported that they needed additional set up time to develop effective cross sector partnerships. In the early stages of the programme, projects could experience challenges in identifying former service personnel to work with; and having effective referral routes established. Following a recommendation in the Phillips Review into Former Members of the Armed Forces and the Criminal Justice System, HM Probation Service has introduced measures that routinely capture information on those entering custody or on community sentences. Better data is therefore available to identify former service personnel in need of support.

4.3 The aim of this programme was to provide further funding that would:

- Continue to support former service personnel who are at risk of offending;
- Encourage the lasting sustainability of projects that offer good support to former service personnel who are in the criminal justice system; and
- Encourage collaboration and effective cross sector working that reduces duplication and provides the best possible pathways for former service personnel

4.4 The Trust awarded £1,101,308 to seven organisations that applied for funding to continue their work with ex-service personnel within the criminal justice system

4.5 All seven of the organisations awarded continuation and sustainability funding have been visited to discuss their project's delivery to date along with their future plans leading into final evaluations and ideas of sustainability beyond the end of the grant.

4.6 The Trust also awarded £20,000 to Anglia Ruskin University for further stage development on the Outcomes Measurement Framework for use with these grants. The tool is now ready for initial deployment and the additional funding will be used for refinements and development based on user feedback by these grant holders in the year long test period.

5 Armistice and Armed Forces Covenant Programme

5.1 The Trust made 2,773 awards across the United Kingdom.

5.2 All awards were made on the understanding that by being a part of the Armistice and Armed Forces Covenant programme; the recipient organisation was helping to improve and build better understanding and stronger relationships between civilian and military communities in their local area.

5.3 Data from the programme highlighted a strong level of community engagement as a result of the awards. 69% of projects felt that the award had brought the community together more than they were expecting. 75% of award holders intend to carry out further activity as a result of their project. The programme supported a range of integrational activity.

5.4 The Trust has published a report on the Armistice and Armed Forces Covenant programme, available on the website, which explores the spread of grants across the UK, and the community integration that the programme supported.

6. Information available on funded projects

6.1 The Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust Executive has a considerable range of data that can be requested. For example, data has been collected to show what type of community integration project has been funded (e.g. education, commemorative, etc.) and what type of organisation has received the grant (local charity, national charity, statutory body, armed forces unit) will be created by funded projects, etc. Information can also be provided on the numbers of applications received in each round.

6.2 Summaries of each funded grant can be provided on a case by case basis. Individual grant recipients are all required to produce end of grant reports describing their project in full, including pictures, news reports and other evidence of social media engagement which will start to build up a national picture of what the Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust cumulatively can achieve in terms of supporting the delivery and recognition of the Armed Forces Covenant.

7. Budget

7.1 The final breakdown of the annual spend for FY 2018/19 is as follows:

Armed Forces Covenant Fund: Local Grants £2,446,199

Tackling Serious Stress £4,639,567

Continuation and Sustainability Grants: ex-service personnel in the criminal justice system £1, 255,365

Armistice and the Armed Forces Covenant £ 1,255,365

Map of Need to extend remit to include armed forces families £94,680

Costs (excluding AVF contribution) £500,000

7.2 Further details of all open programmes and the timelines for applying are on the Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust website and from the Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust which can be contacted on enquiries@covenantfund.org.uk. 8 grants totalling £4,263,084

Name	Project Title	Grant Amount	Description
Northern Ireland
Inspire	Recovery Together	£703,000	The portfolio will bring together a range of innovative wellbeing and support services across Northern Ireland, safely case managed and clinically governed. The portfolio will offer services delivered within a stepped care model from low through to high intensity support interventions, to address the significant gap in support for veterans their families and carers across Northern Ireland.
Ely Centre	Veterans Support	£220,000	The project will provide a veterans and family crisis response support project which will deliver a crisis intervention and de-escalation service to veterans and their families or carers who reside in County Armagh, Fermanagh and Tyrone. This will include health and wellbeing support interventions, intensive psychotherapy within a holistic approach to health and wellbeing and benefits/pension advice for veterans and their immediate families. They will work with a range of partners.
Scotland
V1P Scotland	Live Life - veterans and families	£700,000	The programme will provide a range of opportunities for veterans and their families to reconnect, understand the issues and problems that they have all faced. Veterans First Point will trial new ways of working psychologically with veterans, their carers and children and also more co-ordinated approach to the network of care provision. Complimentary interventions are also available to aid mental health and wellbeing, such as peer support groups, social prescribing and a programme of alternative respite options.

Tagsa Uibhist	Positive Community Wellbeing	£77,500	The communities across the Western isles are remote and isolated. This project is based upon social prescribing and taking a holistic approach to delivering targeted care. It will involve early identification and intervention with individuals ensuring that their problems do not escalate into a potential crisis situation. Access to specialist support or local resources for veterans usually means leaving the Western Isles and travelling to the mainland to receive the appropriate support. This collaborative is made up of a large number of organisations with a single focus on delivering stepped care to all those in the community. The project aims to reduce the need for referral onto specialist services and means individuals are not experiencing a deterioration in their personal circumstances before they can access support.
Wales
CAIS	Change Steps- Next Steps	£ 697,677	Working with a range of organisations from all three sectors and academia, the portfolio will develop new ideas to support veterans, their families and carers in Wales who have severe mental health and serious stress problems. Grants awarded under the Ex Service Personnel in the Criminal Justice System Continuation and Sustainability Programme in in 2018/19

7 grants totalling £1,101,308

Name	Project Title	Grant Amount	Description
The Venture Trust	Positive Futures - Meteorite	£140,415	The project will work with 'Hidden veterans' across Scotland who don't self-identify or engage with support, for a number of identified reasons. Outreach posts, dedicated to supporting Veterans involved with Criminal Justice will work with support originations and new and existing networks, and identify and support 'hidden veterans' with a criminal justice background.
SSAFA, the Armed Forces Charity	VCJS Support Service	£110,893	SSAFA's new Veterans in the Criminal Justice System (VCJS) support service brings together their VCJS pilot project with their Prison-In-Reach (PIR) service. They will focus on ensuring a presence in all prisons and assisting those who are serving community sentences and their families. A whole-person and early intervention/prevention approach to support will help former service personnel and their families take steps to address their issues before they escalate into more serious problems. In doing so, the service will play a crucial role in removing the barriers to successful rehabilitation.
Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner, West Mercia	Remember Veterans	£150,000	The project will continue vital aspects of the Remember Veterans project in identifying and supporting former members of the armed forces in the criminal justice system across Warwickshire and West Mercia, providing direct support to former service personnel, developing Veterans Champions, working across sectors in partnership and collaboration.
IOM Cymru SToMP	IOM Cymru SToMP project	£250,000	IOM Cymru SToMP aims to design and develop a consistent, whole-system approach for ex-Armed Service Personnel across Wales in the journey from police call out to their exit from the Criminal Justice System and provide strategic oversight to encourage collaborative, multi-agency work and avoid duplication SToMP has developed a network of front line staff Champions across criminal justice organisations in Wales to ensure change is embedded post-SToMP. They will work to reach female ex service personnel in prisons and focus increased attention upstream, on preventative, diversionary and court activity.

HMPPS [formerly NOMS - National Offender Management Service]	Network for Ex-Service Personnel (NESP)	£150,000	NESP will continue to support veterans through four key areas providing support with resettlement, exploring particular areas of complexity relating to post release supervision following service detention by the Courts Martial with the aim of reducing the number of veterans entering custody as a result of offending escalating, having a programme of support for Veterans in Custody Officers (ViCSO) and increasing functionality and reach of Service Delivery Map that has grown from cross sector collaborative working.
Walking With The Wounded	Project Nova veterans in police custody	£150,000	Project Nova offers tailored support to veterans caught up in anti-social behaviour and in Police Custody. Many of the veterans helped are vulnerable adults with mental health challenges and a history of drug, or alcohol misuse and a risk of homelessness. The project will bring early intervention support to veterans in police custody and support veterans to seek independence, by providing long-term security by means of sustainable employment post military. This decreases the number of veterans re-offending and entering the criminal justice system.
Camden and Islington NHS Foundation Trust	The TILS Prison Outreach Project	£150,000	The funding will extend the reach of the project to all London prisons. The aim is to help veterans access appropriate support as early in their criminal justice pathway as possible, in order to improve criminal justice outcomes. Priority will be given to training staff members working in the CJS across London in veteran sensitive practice, ensuring they are able to identify veterans, are aware of their needs, and have knowledge of local and regional services available to veterans. Training will also cover the role of trauma in offending behaviour, promote trauma informed care and provide information on how to access consultation from the TILS. The project also supports the navigation of referral pathways to enable former service personnel to access support for mental health needs.
